General Do's and Don'ts

Fishing licences are required and must be on your person at all times, they can be purchased at the Gloucester Visitor Information Centre. Persons under the age of 18, indigenous persons and pensioners are not required to have a fishing licence. See the DPI freshwater fishing guide for the full list of exemptions.

It is illegal for recreational anglers to sell their catch.

You may fish any stream from a boat or while walking on the stream bed, regardless of who owns the adjacent land. However, you need the owner's permission to cross land to get to a stream.

You may not use spear guns. Bows and arrows, poison, explosives or firearms to catch fish.

All lines must be attended and you are allowed two - they must be no more than 10 metres from you and in your sight.

It is illegal to take trout by intentional jugging or foul hooking, or by using a light or by net (other than a landing net for a legally hooked fish) or by tickling or by gaff.

Fishing

Barrington Tops Gloucester Region

Updated - July 2016

The rivers in the Gloucester region come under the Peel District and are classed as general trout streams. These include the Barrington, Barnard, Cobark, Dilgry, Gloucester, Manning and Nowendoc rivers plus their creeks and tributaries including Gulf Creek, Moppy Creek, Carters Brook, Stewarts Brook & Moonan Brook.

The opening of the fishing season varies depending on the type of fish you're trying to catch, seasonal variations in the weather, which affects availability, and, "so we're told" whether the dollar birds are singing.

Trout Season

Opens | Midnight, Friday - October long weekend
Closes | Midnight, Monday - June long weekend.

Bass Season

Opens | 1st September
Closes | 30th April

Other Local fish

Mullet, catfish, eels and herring start arriving in the local rivers and streams towards the end of November (usually). The eels and the catfish are in the rivers during winter but are usually not biting during the cooler months.

Permission is required from landowners before traversing private property.
